Jennifer Strouf is an active member of the Florida Bar and a Board Certified Criminal Trial Attorney with over 15 years legal experience. She is a retired member of the Illinois and District of Columbia Bars. Jennifer has practiced both civil and criminal law and litigated cases in both State and Federal Courts. She has tried over 75 jury trials, hundreds of bench trials, numerous motions, and conducted hundreds of depositions. In addition to her litigation responsibilities, Jennifer has supervised and trained a team of trial attorneys.

Jennifer is experienced in supervising, mentoring, and training trial attorneys. She has trained lawyers on a variety of subjects including: active listening, client interviewing, affirmative defenses, mock trial, jury selection, evidence introduction, case management, empathy, practicing paperlessly, time management, issue identification, motion writing, and team building.

Four years ago, Jennifer began studying improv for stress relief and fun. As she learned the theories of improvisation, Jennifer realized many of her improv lessons facilitated skills that could be carried over into the courtroom and her everyday legal practice. Improv improved Jennifer's awareness of her surroundings and her ability to quickly adapt and respond to unexpected situations. Jennifer began incorporating principals of applied improvisation into her litigation work and into the trainings which she presented. She developed a trial skills and team building curriculum based upon her experiences and the feedback from lawyers who attended her trainings.

In 2017, Jennifer began performing improv at the Spitfire Theater in St. Petersburg, Florida. She has won improviser of the night of Whose Line St. Pete and best improv performance at the Spitfire Theater's Spirit of Christmas Show. In 2018, Jennifer founded Improv4Lawyers and began offering continuing legal education classes based on applied improvisation techniques.
